To the Reader.

WE may justly surmise, it will be objected against us, That notwithstanding the promising position of Heaven at the Suns ingress 1667. the successes were not correspondent therunto, or this Nation sensible of those productions: but unto this we may (we hope without any prejudice or mistake) give this modest and satisfactory answer: That although God Almighty, the Father of everlasting Truth, did frequently, yea several times, promise unto the Israelites the Kingdom and possession of the Land of Canaan: yet did he not perform these his assurances wholly by miracle, but by Arms, Armies, and Conduct of Men. But to descend lower to humane actions; doth not the Physitian cure by Medicines? doth not the Divine convince men of their errors by Scripture and Arguments? God useth in all sublunary affairs fit means and proper instruments to perform what he intends. But let those that are so curious, well ponder the actions of the last year, and remember, that the smaller Fleets of Ships where ever they engaged, though surmounted in number, were ever, and in all places victorious; if then our smaller and separated Ships had such happy success, what might have been expected from the united Forces of the whole Royal Navy? But the all-disposing Providence of God had otherwise determined it, without doubt our heinous sins thereunto moving him. It was our sins we feared all along, and which we frequently mentioned, that occasioned that so unexpected IncurSION of the Dutch, in a time when the Treaty was on foot: Yet the harms received were not so very monstrous; let glory and thanks be given unto God: let any moderate person read over our Judgment of the last year, and he shall find sufficient hints of such like Actions. But since we are now blessed with Peace, let us not murmur at the chance of War; when our selves are more righteous, God will be more merciful: when we heartily repent, he will decline his judgments, which we may justly fear are still impending over us. In our ensuing Discourse, we in a manner decline to be so particular as formerly; we find-- Ars deluditur arte, Art was deluded either by Art or Craft. We mention some further Animadversions of the Comet, or Comets, and wish we might be made happy with the Observations of it or them, as to their Motion, Declination, Longitude, and Latitude; if any such Observations have been committed to the Press, we shall longingly hope to see them. If the Comet was but one, it was the strangest that hath been observed these many ages; if the Comets were three, the wonder will be as great, and the effects in time as memorable. The most prodigious Comet we ever read of, was observed by the incomparable Regiomontanus, which appeared in 1475. whose exorbitant motion was such, that movebatur uno die serè per quatuor signa, à fine Virginis usq; Geminorum; Mizaldus, Cometogr. pag. 96. it was moved almost in one day through four Signs, from the end of Virgo to the Twins: which so amazed Mizaldus, that he suddenly breaks forth.

Num tam stupenda motionum varietas, de materia & elementis pendere possit, an verò à cœlo? Whether may so stupendous a variety of motions depend from matter and the Elements, or rather from Heaven; Dicendus sit Cometes cœlestis potius quam elementaris: We may (saith he) rather say it was a Celestial then elementary Comet. We shall conclude our Epistle with a transcript of a Letter from a judicious Merchant in the East-Indies, at the time of the late Comets appearance, which Letter came to an eminent Citizen of London, his brother word for word as followeth.

In these parts of the world, begun the 20. November 1664. the strangest blazing Star that ever was heard of, and continues to this day; at its first appearing it came with a most violent Earth-quake, which threw down all the Pagodos [Temples] in the Kingdom of Pegu, at the same moment, the distance of 200 miles. I never apprehended the like amazement before; No tossing of a Ship at Sea could cause a more unsteadiness in the feet, or giddiness in the head. The Star at first appeared above the Horizon about midnight, nearest South-East and by East, its long and broad stream pointing directly upwards; but now December 20. 1664. it appears upon the Horizon at Sun setting, reversing its long tail to the North-West, which puts all people here into a great astonishment.

Astrological Judgments For the Year 1668.

By William Lilly, Student in Astrology.

Sith it is very manifest, that those remarkable effects depending upon the late direful Comets, are not yet determined, but are still operating according to the several subjects or objects they meet with; agreeing to that of Ptolomy, Aphor. 98. where he affirms, Crinitas secundas partes in iudiciis habere, viz. that Comets in Astrological Judgments have next to the Planets the greatest influence, and ought most seriously to be considered. We thought it convenient, to add some further animadversions more then formerly, having in these three last years observed the verification of many Aphorisms relating to the discovery of their full effects; whereby we may with more probability conjecture of those accidents, which in future time may be contingent. That Comets, Blazing-stars, and such like prodigious Phenomenas have their manifold and certain influences upon the generality of Mankind, as well relating unto Kings and Princes, as unto the Commonalty of people; besides the testimony of many preceding Authors and Examples, we shall confirm by the verified consequences of the year 1665, 1666, 1667. all fresh in the memory of those who now live.

Philip the 4. King of Spain died upon the first Comets appearance.

The Queen Mother of France died the year after, descended from the house of Austria.

The Queen Mother of Portugal died in the same year, or near it.

Astrological Judgments.

The Electress of Brandenburg lately died.

In 1667. the Pope of Rome is deceased.

In the same year, the Queen of Poland died.

And to come nearer home, even in England, his Royal Highness the Duke of York hath two Sons deceased : so that if all Records or Examples of former Ages were lost or not known, the very death of those Heroes and Noble persons, most of them of Kingly extraction, might create belief in man, That Comets are significant signs unto mankind of some dreadful matter at hand, or shortly to succeed ; all which we shall verify in this discourse, according to the doctrine of the Ancients.

Cometa portendunt interitum Principum, Regum atq; consilium Monarcharum & Heroum : Comets portend the death of Princes, Kings, and such like Monarchs, and Noble men, Iustin. pag. 1125. 2. lib. For Princes (saith he) living more delicately, and their bodies fed with more subtle aliment or food, may more easily be intoxicated or corrupted. Besides, the death of Princes, by reason of the difference betwixt them and other persons, is of more note or more taken notice of ; they are also more cholerick, by reason of the great perturbation of their mind, and therefore they raise wars, occasion seditions, or are more concerned in wars, contend more stoutly then other people. He proceeds, Finis Cometarum est parere siccitatem, pestem, famem, bella, mutationem regnorum, & rerum publicarum, legum, traditionum ; The effects of Comets appear in droughts, or driness, in preparing a Plague, Famine, Wars, change or alteration of Kingdoms, Commonwealths, Laws, Customs, Traditions. Item ventos, terramotum, sterilitates, aquarum inundationem, aestum, & magnam caliditatem portendunt : They denounce Winds, an Earthquake, Barrenness, the overflowing of Waters, parching heat, and great driness. Our English Gazette makes mention of a fearful Earthquake happening in 1667. towards the Straights ; whereby many people and many houses were destroyed and demolished. We in England have h ave had at several times very exorbitant winds, very much heat and scarcity of waters; these last two years wars with the Dutch, French and Danes; London wasted by pestilence, and the Plague 1665. consumed by fire a great part thereof, 1666. a general decay or want of Trade, 1667. we hope this Nation shall be exempted from an Earthquake, which seldom happens in these our Septentrional parts of the Earth: but we may fear upon the effects of the second Comet, some great inundations even in England. For Albumasar hath delivered in lib. de floribus in fine ejus. Cum volueris partem terra scire in qua eveniet accidens, aspice Zenith cauda Cometa in qua parte sit extensa, & in eadem parte erit: When thou wouldst discover that habitable part of the Earth or of the World, wherein the Accident signified by the Comet shall appear, or be made manifest, behold the Zenith, or point of the Firmament of the tail of the Comet, into what part it is extended, and in that part the Accident or Accidents shall be bad. For verification hereof, and benefit to posterity, we all know the tail of the first Comet appeared Northwest, and thereby pointed or designed poor England, wherein the Natives, by several calamities since its appearance, have more suffered then any people of Europe.

The tail of the first Comet was wonderful great, red, very flaming, and of great extent, and its appearance of long continuance; so hath there been much war, and blood-shed these three years last past; and not only that sad fire in London, but also in Newport in Shropshire at Loughborow, and many other places and towns since 1664. We pretermitt that lofty fire at Archangel in Russia, which consumed so much of the Dutch Magazines, both of Corn and Cordage, and other materials. But sith Peace is now concluded, and that this Nation hath suffered so many miseries from the influence of the first Comet (God so permitting) which we hope is now at an end, or near determined, we will say nothing of the second Comet, whose effects, if our former Rules hold true, will be transmitted unto the Dutchy of Burgundy, and all those Provinces formerly belonging thereunto, whether they now belong to the States of Holland, or the King of Spain; yea also unto many parts of France, some into Germany, others unto the Italian Princes and their Dominions. For sith the Comets in their motion did pass through no less then half the signs of the Zodiack, assuredly no less then half the habitable part of the world will be passive in one kind or other, ere the Comets full effects be extinguished.

But we proceed, and say, that the tail of the second Comet pointed Eastward; that the colour of the Comet was wan, pale, very Saturnine, Mercurial, and Lunar, feeble, oft disappearing, &c. after some time returning to its pristine colour,

From hence therefore expect very suddenly;

Perniciem multorum, famem ac pestem, annona caritatem, exilia, inopiam, angustias, luctus, terrores, et brutis hominum usui aptissimis, detrimenta, qua postea invescens, seu contagione quoddam communi serpent, minaci vultu prater connumerata, restabitur; frigora suo tempore intensissima, glaciosa et nebulosa raeam. Viz.

The undoing of many men, famine and pestilence, scarcity of victuals, corn and bread, banishments, or shifting of habitations, sorrows, mournings, affrights or terrors, strange losses or detriments of those brute beasts which are most serviceable unto man, as Horses especially, Oxen, Cows, &c. after which so common contagion, other mischances not mentioned, shall, as it were, steal along and infect many other creatures; besides in their seasons, vehement and most intent hard weather, frosty, cloudy, and the like. As also in the Sea, violent and mischievous tempests, obscure clouds, darkness, great quantities of snow and drizzling weather, most fierce winds, unusual shipwracks, great damage in fisheries, devastation of fruits by Caterpillars, Bugs and Vermin, monstrous floods, unwonted Thunders, Hail and Tempests: these are to be expected in their proper seasons, from the effects of the second Comet,

But let us now deliver the reason why Comets, whose colour is pale and wan, do for the most part or generally denounce barrenness, famine, or driness, viz. dry Summers, and little moisture. We must first give the definition of a Comet, which if Leopoldus saith true, is a terrene vapor, having gross parts strongly conjacent, ascending by the virtue of some Star to the superior part of the imperfect heat of some Kingdoms, and of other great matters; Alterationem significans in hoc mundo, portending alteration in this world.

Albertus Magnus, a more learned person, will define a Comet to be Vapor terrestris, grossus, cujus partes sibi multum conjacent, paulatim ascendens ab inferiori parte astus, ad superiorem partem ejusdem, ubi ignis concavitatem contingit ibi diffusus, & inflammatus: ideo videtur longus, frequenter & diffusus. A Comet is an earthy vapor, gross or thick, whose parts do joyn together close or much, by little and little, or by degrees ascending frō the inferior part of heat unto the superior part of the same; where the fire doth touch the concavity, there it is diffused and there inflamed, or set on fire; therefore frequently a Comet seems long and diffused. Many other Philosophers do in a manner define the matter of a Comet to be as we have related: and therefore they argue, That when a Comet is of a pale or wan colour, it signifies barrenness of the earth, famine, scarcity, &c. because, to make a Comet, there is required great and much exhalation, by elevation whereof from the earth, the fancies of the earth is drawn away, which being subtracted from it, the earth grows barren, and that Humidum or moisture, with which the earth should be made fruitful; is exterminated with overmuch driness. These or such like definitions, are the judgments of the ancient Philosophers, and of many modern Astronomers and Physicians, and indeed have been generally received. But in this last Century of years, Paracelsus that great Philosopher and Physician, gives other causes causes and definitions, quite contrary unto those of the Ancients, and in truth more probable, and as rational, you shall hear his opinion, and the rather, because it seems novel or strange.

Cometa est crescens singulare, ex nulla matrice, ex nullo semine progeneratum, sed à Spiritibus compositum; Paracelsus, lib. 8. pag. 181.

A Comet is a singular increasing thing, begotten from no matrix, from no seed, but composed by spirits: and in pag. 231. of the same Book: Ipsum ex natura oriri non posse: its not possible a Comet should have its first beginning from Nature.

Est enim Cometa opus à Spiritibus aëris confectum: A Comet is a work confected or made by the Spirits of the Air.

These assertions we leave to the disquisition of the curious Wits of our age, and the rather because this opinion hath received no contradiction since Paracelsus his Works became publick. It may be required of our learned Philosophers of these times,

How, and by what means exhaled vapors can put themselves into such forms or figures, as they usually appear in.

How their motion can be sometimes regular, or according unto succession of Signs; sometimes irregular, or moving retrograde contrary unto succession of the Signs.

How sometimes they appear with long tails, fiery, and of great length: at other times they appear in a round form, as Stella crinita doth, not having any, or but a small tail.

If they appear from any natural cause or causes, it is then conceived, they might be foreseen or foretold sometimes before their appearance, or the time asserted when we should expect a Comet; such discoveries have not yet been made: how Paracelsus his opinion concerning the Creation of the first matter of Comets will be accepted, we leave to consideration of the refined Wits of this age: we are sure his judgment upon Comets is very rational, and well grounded.

Astrological Judgments.

Ortus Cometarum est fatum omnium populorum, circulo ac motui ipsorum subditorum: The rising, or first manifestation of Comets, is the Fate of all people, or represents the condition of those people subject to their circle and motion: unto such people denūciat malum & miseriam, libertatemve, aut rem aliam novam, aut servitutem: It denounceth evil and misery, and either liberty, or some new matter, or servitude. He proceeds further, affirming that some Comets arise, shewing the Fate of great persons, and new muttering or murmuring against them; and such Comets are very splendid in colour. Those which have tails, have relation to Ecclesiasticks. Those who have thick bushy tails, concern the Fate of vulgar persons more properly. The form of the Comet is assumed according to the matter it presagerh and fore-sheweth. If it hath a large tail, it shews the matter intended to be more protracted. If the tail be wide and large, it portends the effects to be more diffusive, and spread the further. But if the end or extremity thereof shew pleasant, or be serene, then shall the matters or things portended thereby, determine with joy. He concludes thus; There is no more to be known concerning Comets, but that they are formed by inferior Fates, and after brought up to the superiors, that they might prognosticate some novel matter to the world.

We should not have been so copious in this discourse, but that we are assured, those malicious effects depending from the appearance of the second Comet, draw near unto action, and will manifest themselves in scarcity, famine, and great mortality both of Mankind and Cattle. From which, and all its Concomitants, we hope the God of mercy will deliver the English Nation, as also from the dismal effects of the last Comet, which terminated its motion and appearance in Aries the Horoscopical Sign and Ascendant of England, and other adjacent Nations. But sith these evils depending upon the last Comet, will not be visible until 1671. 1672. 1674. most especially about 1676. and 1677. let them whom it may more concern, give them-themselves the trouble to investigate the causes and maleffects thereof. We shall now conclude, both concerning the opinion of the Aristotelian Philosophers, and the followers of that great Searcher of Nature Paracelsus, with a saying of the learned Causinus, lib. 1. pag. 22.

Deus habet à mundi constitutione Cometas dispositos, quibus genus humano petulantius lascivienti minas intemet: sed timere ista magis, quam discutere convenit: God (saith he) hath the Comets disposed from the constitution of the world, wherewith he may stretch out his threats or anger against mankind, or make them known when they grow petulantly wanton: but it is more convenient for us to fear those his judgments, then to discuss them.

Of the ingress of the Sun into vj 11. Decemr. 1667.

We begin our Astrological Judgment for the year ensuing, from the 11. Decr. 1667. at what time the Sun enters the Sign vj, the position of Heaven at that time manifesting the actions and accidents of the latter part of December, all January, February, and part of March, until the Sun enters the Sign Aries, which will be Monday 9. day thereof.

The late Quadrature of Saturn and Jupiter of the 6. Nov. preceding this ingress celebrated in Cardinal Signs, seems to afford plentiful matter for the present times unto the Councils or Consultations now on foot of most Nations therein concerned, by a careful retrospection or circum-spection, or examination, and sifting out some former actions of many persons and their doings; nor do the persons seem mean, or the causes and concerns slight. For as the persons and actions are signified by Saturn and Jupiter, viz. the supremest and highest of all the Planets, so neither are men of vulgar fortunes, or the accusations or suggestions ordinary; but matters and things of great consideration and importance, according unto Mormus, lib. 10. pag. 308. the quality of the persons, or their degrees are thus defined. Those signified by Saturn are, Magni, Theologi, Philosophi, Thesaurii, viz. Great men, Divines, Philosophers, Treasurers. Those signified by Jupiter, Consulibus, Senatores, Judices, Praesides, Amittites, Sacrorum ordi- ordinum Generales, aut Provinciales, Abbates, Episcopi, Cardinales, Provinciae aut Civitatum Praefecti, &c. Counsellors, Senators, Judges, Viceroys, Rulers, Generals of holy Orders, or Provinces, Abbots, Bishops, Cardinals, Governors or Prefects of Provinces or Cities. The persons passive are denoted by Jupiter: the persons active by Saturn, diligent, wise and profound in understanding. From hence we conclude no more, but that many great Ones, of highest action and trust in Kingdoms and Nations, are seriously and dangerously concerned in the Councils and present Consults: what the effect, judgment, or issue hereof will be, may be manifested or apparent in January or February, or near that time. For the Jovialists seem to have many friends, as the Δ of \odot unto \mathcal{U} , and a little after the Δ of \odot unto Jupiter denotes, which besides the standing of \mathcal{U} now unto direction, having formerly bin retrograde, gives great hopes of reconciling some late smart differences. Such like actions as these do seem to take place in the Courts, or Kingdoms, or great Consultations of most Princes, whose Kingdoms or Dominions are under Aries, Aquarius, Libra, and Capricorn.

Very true it is, that in the figure of this Ingress, the Planet Mars doth hasten unto an opposition of \mathcal{U} , signifying vigorous prosecution against the Jovialists: unto Aries is assigned Germany, France, Sweden, England, part of Denmark, Polonia: unto xx great Tartary, Muscovia, part of Swedeland, Piedmont and Bavaria: unto z is assigned the House of Austria; in the Dominions and Territories belonging to that Family, will many Jovialists suffer by accusations and informations in one kind or other: unto v we assign the West-Indies, and in some or most of those Nations, such actions as are related may appear. We determine no particular person or Nation; Ptolemy hath taught us otherwise, Particularia praedicat nemo, nisi numine divino afflatus: None but those inspired with a divine Oracle, does predict particular persons or things. Besides it is only our scope to treat of general accidents.

We

Astrological Judgments.

We will therefore add the judgment of Haly, pag. 391. what the Quadrate of ♄ and ♀ generally signifieth, in regard that unhappy aspect did so lately happen before the Ingress, and may be the subject matter of the three next months Councils and Actions: Significat mutationes & res multas in negotiis publicis, similiter & in Lege; It signifieth mutations, and many matters in publick affairs, and also in the Law. And it is further said, ♄ in an humane sign, Exit damnus in hominibus, &c. as also when in any matter ♄ and ♀ are Significators, De minimis nunquam judica, then be sure there is no trivial matter in hand.

As the general condition of the Commonalty, who generally are signified by the ♄, viz. their present actions seem quiet, and they pretty well pleased, intente in their severall vocations and callings, or undertakings to enrich themselves, being now full of hopes they shall thrive, and live comfortably: Here also seems great preparation for Trade and Commerce, not only amongst our selves, but also into Forreign parts; as unto war, the season of the year prohibits our further judgment. What is further observable is, that we may hear of much damage by shipwracks, contrary winds, blustering storms, some late Piracies or Martial actions, according to the capacity of the times: we find the Planet ♄ the best, and most essentially fortified both in the preventionall and postventionall Lunations. Therefore according to Cardan, Seg. 7. Apho. 67. Facit inundationes, terramotus, nives, pruinas, & frigora immensa: Expect Inundations, Earthquakes, Snows, Frost, and very great Cold. Saturnus in proprio suo domicilio v̄p vel ☿ in Schemate hyemali constitutus, intensum & inasitatum portendit frigus: When ♄ is in one of his own proper Houses, viz. in ♄ or ☿, in the Winters Schem, he portends vehement and unusual cold. What winds we may expect, ♄ being so powerful, is by Cardanus directed in 62. Text of the second Book of Ptolomy: where he saith, ♄ movere ventos orientales, it is his property to move or stir up East winds. Although he hath at present both South Latitude and Declination, elination, yet we do not find any cause to judge he will vary the winds unto those quarters; we rather incline, that as ♎ is a Western or Northwest sign, that upon any variation thereof, it may be East, or Northeast, and so continue during most part of this Revolution. Yet because Mars in January enters the Sign Scorpio, and hath Septentrional Latitude in these Lunations where he is Angular, his influence may something vary the winds, and produce Western and Northwest blasts. But because England is an Island, and not a Continent, the judgment of winds is very difficult, and so is that of weather. For the present we conclude this ingress with the judgment of a learned Author, viz. Bonar. part 4. cap. 102.

Cum luna fuerit domina revolutionis, & ipsa boni esse, fortunata scilicet atq; fortis, libera ab impeditmentis, significat bonum esse universitatis vulgi; & etiam nautarum, & maritum, leccatorum, ac gulariorum, & diurnalem quietudinem ipsorum, eorumq; victus bonitatem.

When the Moon is Lady of a revolution, and not afflicted, viz. but fortunate, and well dignified, free from impediments, she signifieth the condition of the generality of common people to be good; and the like of Sea-faring men, Nurses, and Midwives, or Mothers, of riotous persons, and gluttons, or belly-gods, and the daily quietness of them, and the goodness of their food.

This is an Arabick Judgment: but as we are Christians, it is hoped we shall not follow their examples, but live soberly, and in the fear of God, and consider the many judgments that have been upon this Nation for some years last past, which may rather beget sorrow and repentance for our sins: however in a very good sense and understanding, it imports the Commonalty of England to be well satisfied with the present condition of the times, &c.

Astrological Judgments.

Of the ingress of the Sun into Aries. 1668.

We now deliver our Astrological Judgment upon the Sun's ingress into Aries, the position of Heaven being as in the Figure is described. It is first material we premise the Condition of Europe as at present it stands.

England enjoyeth peace all over Europe.

The French Monarch invading the Territories of his Majesty of Spain, in the Dutchy of Burgundy, or the Low Countries, thereby provoking the great House of Austria his enemy.

The Emperour of Germany having at present writing hereof, hereof, not any war at home or abroad.

Denmark and Swedeland stand now in a peaceable condition.

No visible Controversie of moment betwixt the Princes of Germany.

The Muscovite not at all engaged, for any thing we hear from those parts.

The Polonian Kingdom in an uncertain condition either to Peace or War.

The Emperour of Turkie not in Contention with any Prince of Europe, except the Venetian, whose principal City in Candia he now besiegeth.

The United Provinces at Peace every where.

The Portugal not yet reconciled with Spain.

The present Pope in great quietness.

Although Ptol. lib. 2. quadripart. cap. 10. doth declare: Ad indicandos eventus annuos, quatuor assumere principia, viz. bina æquinoctialia, & bina tropica: To judg yearly Events, we must assume four beginnings, that is, the two Equinoctial points at what time the Sun enters Aries and Libra, and the two Tropicks, or when the Sun enters \odot and γ : yet since his time many of the Ancients write; if the sign ascending at the Suns entrance into γ was fixed, they seldom made use of any other Scheam for the whole year, or not more then of two: However we find by experience, that more assured judgment may be rendred, by setting both the two Equinoctial and two Tropick figures, if no Eclipse or Eclipses intervene in the interim; but if one or more Eclipses shall happen, then we only make use of that figure of the Suns ingress into γ : or sometimes the Suns ingress into \odot , because most great actions are over, or performed before September.

As for Election of the Lord of the year, Maginus in supplement. Isagodicarum, pag. 21. giveth these directions wholly consenting with Ptolomy.

In figura introitus Solis in Cardinale punctum, consideratur locus ipse Solis, Angulus seu Cardo immediate post locum
B Solis

Astrological Judgments.

Solis, & Horoscopus : In the position of Heaven, framed when the Sun enters the Cardinal point, let the place of the Sun be considered (he means the house of Heaven wherein he is posited) the Angle immediately succeeding, and the Ascendant.

Which, or what Planet therefore shall have most or strongest authority or fortitudes in those places, he shall be admitted for Governour or Disposer of that time or quarter of the year; with consideration had to that of Ptolomy : But of mutations or alterations, which may happen in these times, their increasings, augmentations, or failings, or diminutions universally, or more generally, these conjunctions which fall near to the before-mentioned points of the Luminaries shall manifest; also the planetary Configurations or Aspects unto those points considered.

We are also seriously to consider the Transits of the three superior and slow Planets, who obtain or carry no small part in altering the quarter of the year.

These Rules are very material, whether you consider or judg either of the season of the year, or general accidents of the world.

According unto this Doctrine, the Sun is in the seventh House, therein significat contrarietatem qua accidet vulgo à nobilibus seu magnatibus, seu regibus, viz. Contrariety which shall happen to the Commonalty from the Nobles, Great-men, or Kings; or that in several Countreies the Magistracy shall act many things contrary to the expectations of vulgar men and their judgments. But Origanus, pag. 476. saith thus : ☉ in septima regum solitariam vitam, qua se-moti à subditis, & conversatione publica vivere cupiunt, significat : It signifieth the solitary life of Kings, wherein they desire to live sequestred from their Subjects, and all publick conversation. This may perchance in this year take effect with his Majesty of Poland, considering our Gazettes have several times declared such a like resolution to be in that King : besides in this years revolution, Poland is very much threatened with IncurSIONS of the rude Tartars,

Astrological Judgments.

Tartars, if not breach of League with some neighbouring Nation.

The Angle succeeding the ☉, is the Medium Caeli, the cusp thereof the 21. 25' II, the House of ♄, but he peregrine in ♊ in a ♀ with ♄, who hath dominion of that Term, and also of the degree ascending; so that Mercury and ♄ having most dignities in those places, may challenge the prerogative of actions contingent in this first quarter: ♄, as having many dignities in the Signs of M. C. and Horoscope; ♄, as being strongly fortified, suffering no imbecillity. But for as much as Mars is in his own House, stationary unto Retrogradation, and within few degrees of the Quadrature of ♄; he will challenge a great share in the manage of this quarters actions, according unto Origanus, pag. 519. Considerandum vero, &c. We are to consider diligently if the effects of any great Conjunction, especially of ♄ and ♃, or their Quadrature do happen in this year; there was a ☐ of ♄ and ♃ the 6. of November last in Cardinal Signs; in April 1668. third day thereof those ponderous Planets come to a partial Quadrature in fixed Signs. Mars at the same time retrograde, being in Scorpio, beholding ♄ with a sinister ☐, and with an envious opposition to the benevolent ♃: from hence, affirmant communiter Astrologi bellorum motus ex anno metuendum esse hominibus: Astrologers generally from such positions of Heaven and Configurations of the Superiors, do affirm, that mankind may very well fear there will be war in that year; and war may the more be dreaded, because of the great strength of Mars and debility of Jupiter. Nor may we expect great plenty of provisions, because the ☽ concurs with ♄ in Latitude; erit fames & lues, there will be famine or scarcity, a murrain of Cattle, and many afflicted with the pox, viz. Gallick and English. The Sign of Scorpio, wherein Mars is posited, denoteth the North parts of the world, tending towards the East: but as to Kingdoms, Cities and Provinces, designed unto the government of Mars in Scorpio, they are one with another; concern, let him expect that he shall find a greater and more eminent and powerful person to deal with then himself: generally this unfortunate Quadrature falling in the third and fifth Houses, denounceth Dissidia, & contentiones fratrum, cognatorum & agnatorum: There will be variance or breach of friendship, brothers at contention one with another, kindred of the same blood separating in love one from another, and of kinsmen by the same father. These productions are derived from Mars in the third; h as he is posited in the eighth, Perditionem liberorum: upon these and such like discontents, women shall miscarry, or children already born will die. Orig. pag. 473. with whom consents Bonat. 570. Mars in tertia domo, significat iram & odium atq; inimicitiam, & contrarietatem, & contentionem casuam inter fratres, & minores consanguineos, & quod plures eorum interficient se ad invicem ex parva occasione, &c. Mars in the third House, denotes much wrath, hatred, enmity, contrariety, contention to happen betwixt brethren, one amongst another upon a small occasion; and the like to happen amongst kindred of the same blood, but not so near related, many whereof will utterly undo themselves thereby. Goclenius 93. pag. Astrolog. generalis, in few words delivers what we may expect in Europe upon this Quadrate, viz. Malum, horribilia accidentia & discordias: Evil or mischief, horrible accidents, discords: and pag. 133. turbas, devastationesq; in pluribus locis, pluvias, contrita, & coruscationes: troubles, devastations in many places, rains, thunders, flashes of lightnings. We proceed; as Q is Lord of the Ascendant and tenth House, he hath signification in this quarter of the year, being in the House of Mars, recipit ejus naturam, he receives his Nature; the sign being moveable, and his motion swift, he manifests very many Consultations, many persons; many Commissioners generally in many parts of Europe employed to reconcile those differences remaining as yet not fully concluded; whether the actions appertain unto War or Commerce, Leagues, Contracts or Articles, or other differences betwixt Nation and Nation : that so all Europe might be blessed with a happy and comfortable peace, of which, though some succeeding Configurations give great hopes; yet the plurality of male-aspects coming so fast one upon another, and those especially of the superior Planets immediately succeeding, do absolutely manifest the contrary; unless God of his great mercy do incline some obstinate persons in this conjuncture of time concerned to degenerate from their former judgments and opinions. But ♀ who signifieth the mutable fancies of these persons is combust, by which is declared, some persons to their great unhappiness, fix not in their own natural Judgment; but yield unto those persons indued with weaker conceptions: as ♄ is posited in Aries, he signifieth paucitatem annona in partibus Occidentis, ventos validos futuros; no plentiful crops in this year in the Western parts, or provisions something scanty in these parts, very strong winds; et rores, ac tenues et molles nubes, et mortem puerorum; unwelcome dew, slender and easily dispersed clouds, the death of Infants. That which is very considerable in this Revolution, as unto the City of London, whose prosperity we wish above all earthly things, is, that in this Ingress ♀ who is Lord both of the tenth and Ascendant, is applying and near unto the Sextil of ♄, the great superior Planet, & he in his own House and joy, almost in a partil Δ to the place of the ♀ in the late Conjunction of ♄ and ♀; as also in Δ unto the tenth degree of ♌, being generally believed to be the very degree of the late Comets first appearance: we hope its an happy Omen unto their present building and Restauration thereof, and that upon its now re-edification it may continue many years in much splendor, plenty of Commerce, and glory; besides in this vernal position, Gemini culminates, and the ♀ is near the M. C. and into two fixed Stars of the nature of ♄ and ♀, both of the second Magnitude, well manifesting the greatness of that Structure they are in hand with, and the probability in time of its full perfection and sufficiency. In condendis orbibus stellis fixis qua conferre habent, utere, Ptol. Aph. 36. In building Cities, use the fixed Stars which have power to assist or co-operate; the reason is given by Haly Rodian, pag. 110. Stella enim fixa majorem significationem significat quam planeta: for the fixed Stars have therein a greater signification then the Planets, by reason of their slow motion and fixedness, whereby it may be conjectured, that the City may endure a longer time, ere it come to casualty or destruction. We write this concerning the gross of the City, or whole body thereof, well knowing in compositione domorum, exerce planetas: in the building of houses, use good aspects of the Planets: but this is obiter. In this the Cities restoration, it is said by reason of the ♃ her ex-istency in the tenth, Excitabuntur ingenia juvenutis ad exercitia ingeniosa, viz. The wits of the youth thereof will be stirred up to ingenious exercises; the Genius of the careful Merchant to advance his Commerce in all parts; the Inventions of the Mechanick and Artificers, how to adorn and set forth those magnificent Structures they are in hand with. It is also most true, and it may be objected, that ♄ is lately separated by transit from the opposite place wherein Mars was in the late Conjunction of Saturn and ♄ one only degree, and that this may in some measure retard or be harmless at the present; but this is answered, ♄ is separated one degree from that place, which by a just measure of time gives one year, and that was then in 1667. wherein for some months, the Citizens were hindered in their building, were discontent, angry, and suffered for want of Trade and Commerce, by that unexpected Incurfion of the Dutch; labenti calamo, we pass by these relations, all obstacles being now removed: Luna in decima, significat quod populus dabit se multum illo anno operibus manuum suarum. Haly, pag. 378. Let all men speak what they will, the ♃ is placed in the tenth, signifieth that the people generally will all set to their hands and hearts in this great Work for its perfecting and compleat finishing. She also denotes Navigaciones, peregrinationes, viz.

the many ships the Citizens will set forth, the great Traffick they may rationally expect, and have from most of the habitable parts of the World, and that with expectation of good and profitable Returns; as \odot is the House of substance unto Π , we find the Dispositrix thereof well placed, and so very great hopes of thriving: but if some Critick will urge the \odot to be Lord of their substance, then doth he behold the tenth House with a Δ , viz. cuspe thereof; however it may be feared, and there is some cause for it, that in the year 1673. those Houses, Buildings, Wharfs near unto the Thames side in their foundations, may receive harm or damage by some violent or powerful Overflowing or Inundation of Waters. That which is very considerable in this Vernal position is, that all the three superior Planets are hastning unto malevolent Aspects, viz. h unto the \square of δ the 2. April, and v the same day unto an δ of δ : the 3. April unto a \square of h . If we give every Planet his proper Orbs, their influence is in operation already, much rancour and malice appearing against the Jovialists in some Countries. If we consider their effects as to the posture of Heaven in the late Conjunction of h and v , we must then naturally judg, that many Ecclesiastical persons, things and matters thereunto relating, and to Religion and Religious Rites, are very highly concerned in these Configurations; nor are the Lawyers or Gownmen, whether civil or common, exempted in many Countries from the like misfortunes, viz. against whose persons and actions many accusations are designed, and more in probability will be; some whereof either die of pure Melancholy, or are degraded from their Dignities, or very much blasted in their Fame and Honour. The most malicious of these Aspects, is the \square of h and δ , both enemies to mankind, both essentially fortified, the more powerful to act mischief.

The Aspect assimilates the condition of two strong enemies, of any quality whatsoever, whether Kings, Dukes, Nobles, Princes, prime Officers of Nations, &c. or two power-powerful Nations or people at variance, each intending to destroy other, and they seem fixed in these resolutions, obstinately bent to humour their own Councils, to execute their own Laws ad libitum. Whereupon saith Bonatus, pag. 552. Venient mala, injuria, rixa, contentiones, atque contrarietates inter divites, seu nobiles atq; magnates regionum, quae sunt in divisione signi in quo fuerit Mars, & divites atq; magnates regionum praedictarum: There shall come or succeed mischiefs, injuries, brawlings, contentions, contrarieties amongst the wealthy rich men, the Nobles and great persons of those Regions which are in the division of that Sign wherein Mars is; and also as many evils, divisions, controversies and debates betwixt the Nobles and principal persons of those Countries under the Dominions of h in that Sign he is in.

Insurgent enim in eos ex guerris, & nitentur contra eos, ut expellant eos de suis civitatibus atq; regionibus, nec remanebit hoc per eos: & abscindentur viae inter eos, nec permittentur res portari de regionibus illis ad alias.

Those people represented by Mars, will bring War upon the other parties, will do what they are able against them, that they may expel their Saturnine enemies out of their habitations, Cities and Country; nor will be content or end here; but will block up or cut off their passages or waies, and not permit to carry or take with them their goods out of their own Country into others, &c. nay the universality of those persons denoted by Mars, seem so enraged, that they intend wholly the utter destruction of those governed by h , who rules principally over Tartary, Muscovy, part of Poland, the Moors of Barbary, and other not so remote Countries; J ruleth the third Climate. The opposition of M and J denotes Churchmen and Lawyers at variance with Sword-men, viz. principal Governors of Armies, Commanders in Chief, whether by Sea or Land, Admirals, Vice-admirals, Governors of Towns, Castles, Forts, or men imployed in Military affairs: these or such as are represented by J , as all cholerick and fighting ingmen are, do seem to have strong and strange accusations against Episcopal parties or men, against those who profess the Laws of Nations, whether Judges, Advocates, or such as have the Civil Government in affairs: be that as it must be, there follows the ☐ of ♃ and ♄, which seems not to intend War as the former Aspect doth; but rather verbal conflicts and disputes, informations, accusations, impeachments, defamations against Judges and Magistrates; as also crabbed disputations of such as pretend to Religion, with high animosities attending, very near occasioning mutinies or insurrections: but those are prevented by a prudent Magistracy, and peoples spirits quieted either really or for a time. However these unnatural Controversies will by clandestine means, give occasion one time or other of much mischief. which may continue some months, greatly to the prejudice of those parts where they fall, though in conclusion neither party will have cause of rejoycing either of the parties oppressing or oppressed.

The diseases of this year, or rather of this Quarter, whether we consider the preventional or postventional Luration or position of the Suns ingress into Aries, are declared to be of the Nature of ♃, and partly of ♂: of ♃ especially; he having most Dominion in the sixth House of all the figures, besides his affliction by ♄ and ♂. As he is posited in ♂, he represents the Kings-evil, Squinancies, sore Throats, Putrefactions, Inflammations or Swellings in that part of the Body, Impostumes, Tooth-ach; had he been without any impediment, he had then signified naturally corrupt Livers, Apoplexies, Rottenness, and all corruptions in the Lungs, Shortness of Breath, desire of Vomiting, abundance of raw undigested Flegm in the Gutturals, Pleurisies, Infirmities lodging in the Veins and Ribs, thick, congealed or impure Blood, infirmities in the Back-bone, Feavers proceeding from adust Choler and Melancholy: for he suffers affliction both by ♄ and ♂, and in fixed Signs; as unto the winds or season of the year, not having much Dominion, by reason of his many affliafflictions, he shall manifest the least part thereof, the sole Rule thereof being attributed unto h and g : somewhat notwithstanding he may allay with his beams those cruel blasts and unwelcome storms the two Malevolents will produce. As the Planet g participares with M in the sicknesses and distempers of the vernal Quarter, he represents bloody Fluxes, the Stone and Strangury, Hernias or Ruptures of all kinds, windy and Beshy, Swellings and Rottenness of the privy Members both of man and woman; in Women great abundance of menstruous, violent, tertian Feavers proceeding or having their original by intemperancy, drunkenness or surjets; Children and people of riper years more frequently vexed with the Small-pox then formerly, more difficult to cure, Scabbiness, scald Heads, all manner of Fistula's, dangerous Wounds in mens Bodies. He denounceth many Robberies, many Thieves, both the Northern and Southern and Western Roads, much infested with Highway-men, Vagabonds and Hectors, whose final end M being in v , signifying the neck, doth well declare, viz. hanging by the Neck. As to the Weather, he shews great variation thereof, sudden and unexpected, viz. frequent Thunders, fearful Flashes and Lightnings, sudden intemperate Hail-storms, violent Showers, much prejudicing those Fruit-trees which blossom in April or beginning of May. For in those months he will most manifest his effects. The Planet h in the fifth, shews many Women to miscarry in this year, great infection of the blood by melancholy distempers, passions and actions; these to predominate especially in the Nobility and Gentry of most Nations; Tympany, Dropsies, long and lingering Consumptions, Death of many aged persons, as Cardinals, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Deans, Canons, Prebends; Gouts of all kinds both in Hands and Feet, and other parts of the Body, blood generally infected with windy and melancholy Obstructions, the yellow and black Jaundice. As h is in xx , he represents the Head, therefore Megrims, Apoplexies, Madness occasioned by vexation tion and sorrow, or great persecutions; a probability there is, that many people subject to these infirmities, will make away with, or wilfully destroy themselves; Coughs, Rheums, descending from the head, with more violence then in former years. As unto the Weather, he signifieth more then usually cold, especially when the wind is in the East, frosty nights, cloudy and unwholesom, sudden tempests in the Air, prejudicial and in their effects doing mischief; and if any rain proceed from his Aspects, it will be destructive to the Season it falls in; as if in April in this year, he threatens unwholesom blasts, whereby the tender buds of Fruit-trees are destroyed or blasted, and so but little expectation thereof, rather a scarcity, which as it may be feared in Fruit, so it may be more dreaded in all sorts of Grain, especially Wheat and Rye, Barley, and such like, by reason of his prevalency, and the lesser Infortune Mars in all, or most of the Lunations of this Quarter and the next, wherein we have also relation to the present operation of the late Comet, which was the assured forerunner of Famine, Scarcity and Mortality, which begins to dilate its effects and presages in 1668. according to Campanella, lib. 2. Artic. 6. Credo etiam, quot menses Cometa durat, tot annos habere in significatione, nisi ab alia constitutione impediatur, aut magnificetur: I believe (saith he) so many months as a Comet endureth, or shews it self, it shall have so many years in his signification, unless its effects be made less by some other constitution, or put forwards by the like Configuration, &c.

Of the Lunar Eclipse, 16. May 1668.

3^h 34' in the Morning.

That which makes this Eclipse the more considerable, is, that the ☽ and ☿ are with two of the most noble and active fixed Stars of the whole Zodiack: the ☽ is with the Anares now in the 5^d and 6^m of ♄ of the Nature of ♂ and ♀, ☿ is with Palitium, which most Authors affirm to be of the sole Nature of ♂, and in 5^d and 5^m of ♀. Before we come to give Judgment, we must first discover that Planet who who hath most Dominion in the place defective, which according to Ptolomy, cap. 7. lib. 2. is thus performed: Ex signo ipso in quo est defectus, & signo quod est in cardine: By the Sign it self in which the Eclipse falls out to be, and by the Sign posited in the subsequent Angle. The Sign wherein this Eclipse is, is ♄ the House of ♄, and his Term: the 26^d of ♊ culminates, and that is the Angle succeeding, of which Sign ♄ is Lord, the cuspe of the Angle in his Term: therefore he wholly governeth that place. Sin autem non invenitur idem Dominus loci defectus & cardinis, sed duo; but if one and the same Planet shall not be found Lord of the p^lace Eclipsed and Angle, but that there are two; anteferatur quidem Dominus loci defectus, sed tamen adjungatur alter; the Lord of the place defective shall be principally admitted, but the other Planet shall participate with him in signification of effects or Events; so that in this Eclipse, and according to the Doctrine of Ptolomy, we are to judg the effects from ♄ and ♄, these are the most supreme and ponderous Planets of all the wandering Stars, and in signification will manifest the greatest persons of Europe, as Emperors, Kings and Princes, Dukes, Nobles, primest Officers of all Kingdoms, Countries, Commonwealths, Cities, Factories, and others of the like quality or degree in those Nations or Kingdoms subject to the Influence of this Defect, according to Ptolomy: For Gemella, Gemini, Virgo, Sagitarius, Pisces, hominibus & Regibus ob duplicem affectionem significant. Proclus 68. Double bodied Signs have signification of Kings and men, by reason of twofold or double affection: Rex enim respectu subditorum, & subditi respectu Regis dicuntur; A King in respect of his Subjects, the Subjects in regard of their King. As the Eclipse falls out in the seventh House; Gravia bella, pugnas ac seditiones vulgi suscitatur; The Influence of this Eclipse stirs up grievous Wars, conflicts, seditions, mutinies of the Common people: Et ad caedes, rapinas, manifestaq; crimina instigatur: It incites unto slaughters, rapines, and notorious crimes. The incidence of this Eclipse will

much of it fall in the sixth House under the earth, from thence many private Conspiracies, many underhand transactions may be expected; Vehementes dissensiones inter fratres, consanguineos, & affines, Vehement dissensions or discords amongst brethren, or betwixt them, kinsmen, neighbours and borderers: Veterisq; juris dominio aut re-conventionione pactorum seu transactionum altercationes incidunt: Brawling, branglings or pleadings, do suddenly arise concerning the jurisdiction of some ancient Law, Custome or Right, or in reconvention of Leagues or transactions, viz. it will be objected, That some Covenants or Articles are acted or acting contrary to what was originally intended, and something will be further prosecuted, De dote mulierum, there will be many things agitated concerning the Dowry, portion or portions, Dowries of Women. But sith there will not much of this Eclipse be visible in England, we may hope the effects will be less considerable unto us; but something hereof we must participate. The most vigorous Influence hereof will appear Eastward and South-East from England, wherein, Part nobilium defectionem meditabitur, in those Countries part of the Nobility or Nobles seem at a stand what to do, and begin to meditate or think of their Defection; or seem alienating or staggering in resolution unto what party to adhere. Motus bellici atroces erunt, item conflagrationes, & depopulationes Castellorum & villarum: There will be fierce warlike motions, Conflagrations, depopulations both of strong holds, Castles and Villages; many of these calamities will happen unto those people subject to the third Quadrangle, and some part unto those people subject unto the Sign Cancer: wherein the effects or malevolent Influences of the second Comet are very near operation. As Υ is Dispositor of the place Eclipsed, so is he also of the eighth and tenth of the figure, and is also within one degree of that eminent fixed Star Caput Medusæ; hereby declaring the sudden rising and preferment of many Jovial persons, both Nobles and Ecclesiasticks unto high Offices and Callings

Astrological Judgments.

Callings both in State and Church-affairs; but it denoteth no assurance or stability, or any long continuance in their Honours, Places or Dignities, of what quality or kind soever; rather it presageth a violent and spiteful tumbling down from all their Grandures when least suspected. For ♃ hastneth out of ♄ into ♀, wherein he hath no material fortitude, it being his detriment. Were it not that both ♃, ☉ and ♀ were accompanied with so eminent fixed Stars, and ♄ Dispositor of the ninth, tenth and eleventh Houses, the Eclipse in the seventh, and the defect vespertine, which worketh therefore more strongly, we should conclude the significations hereof would not so notoriously operate. For further manifestation whereof, you shall hear the Judgment of Proclus his Paraphrase upon Ptolomy, lib. 2. cap. 9. translated out of Greek into Latin by Allatius: Cum de quinq; planetis adnotamus, statim animo voluendum esse eorum temperiem, & à simili natura vires & auxilium, & an propriam habeat constitutionem, sive ex fixis & Zodiaci loco, similis mixtura occurrit: When we observe any thing of the five Planets ♄ ♃ ♄ ♄ ♄, we must have consideration unto every ones temperature, and their virtues, and participation with the like nature as their own, whether from the fixed Stars, or the place of the Zodiack; and whether a Planet have his own Constitution yea, or not, or mixt with the like nature from either fixed Stars or place of Heaven; Animadvertendum enim est, in commixtionibus non tantum planetarum inter se mixturam considerari, sed earum etiam sive fixæ sunt, sive loca Zodiaci, quæ eandem cum planetis naturam participant: We must further observe in Commixtions, not only the mixture of the Planets amongst themselves, but of those also whether fixed Stars or places of the Zodiack, which participate the same nature with the Planets.

This Eclipse is in a Sign of the fiery Triplicity, and Vespertine, the ♄ accompanied with Cor m, a fixed Star of great Influence. From whence it may rationally be concluded, that the great actions of Europe intended from hence,

hence, will be executed or managed partly by Jovialists, viz. persons dignified with Ecclesiastical Titles, as the Pope, Cardinals, Abbots, Priors, Archbishops, Civillians, Doctors of Laws, both Civil and Canon; Chancellors, Judges, Lawyers, Embassadors, Commissioners, men of great Authority and Magnificence, grave and sober persons; the matters seem to concern Laws, Customes, Priviledges, Articles, Treaties, Leagues, &c. wherein there is like to be great changes, alterations, or mutations; as also many Controversies betwixt neighboring Princes and Commonwealths, or free Cities. But the two grand fixed Stars conjoynd near the place defective and opposite point thereof, do denounce very fierce Wars or Controversies concerning those occasions and causes pre-mentioned For generally after an Eclipse or male-configuration of Planets in the fiery Trigon, it hath been observed, that Wars have succeeded, slaughter of men, rapines, murders, Towns, Castles, Forts besieged, depopulation sometimes of whole Countries, Villages and Provinces; and these are signified to be more violent; if an Eclipse happen in a time of present War. If such a defect happen in a peaceable time, it incites many dangerous contentions, many tedious Law-suits, much variance amongst vulgar persons, even concerning trivial grounds; sometimes tumults happen, Insurrections in several Counties or Countries against their Magistrates, when little or no cause is given; sometimes a general dislike against the Ministers and whole Tribe thereof. To put forwards many of these mischiefs, the Eclipse is in the Asterism of π , furnished with many Martial fixed Stars, all which may add unto our preceding Judgment, besides its being in the seventh House, thereby signifying Wars and Debates concerning the Testaments of deceased persons, &c.

It is known unto all though but meanly versed in Astrology, that γ who is Lord of the place defective, governeth Persia, Hungaria and Spain; of Cities, Babylon, Cullen, whether there may arise in Persia or Hungaria any Wars or Hostility upon the Influence of this Eclipse ere it determine, or any breach of Leagues or former Alliances, time will discover. At present their Majesties of Spain and France are actually in War. The persons signified by Ψ , and before specified, seem to be Mediators for peace, some or many of them are persons represented to come from several Kings and Princes to compose those breaches now on foot, of which our Eclipse gives but small hopes. Both parties seem well countenanced or assisted by powerful friends. Antares of the nature of δ and Ψ hath but $4^{\circ} 27'$ of South Latitude. Palilicium is only of the nature of δ , hath $5^{\circ} 31'$ of South Latitude; and in this defect is in his detriment, the more weak thereby: from hence may be judged, that his Majesty of Spain will not only be supported by the Church and Ecclesiastical Orders; but also by great and powerful Armies from Forreign parts or Princes. His Majesty of France seems only or less supported by Friends, but only from the strength of his own Militia or Army or proper Nation: so that if peace be not concluded ere the effects of this Eclipse do operate, the Heavens seem to favour his Majesty of Spain in the end of the War, more or rather than the Monarch of France. Unto the third Quadrangle, where the effects will be most apparent, we do assign $\Pi \text{ } \Gamma \text{ } \text{M} \text{ } \times$: under Π is Brabant, Flanders, Lumbardy: Cities under Π are, London, Lorain, Bruges, Norimbergh, Mentz.

Under the Sign Virgo are, Greece, Africa, Southwest parts of France, S. Christophers in the West-Indies, Virginia: Cities under Virgo are, Paris, Lions, Tolouse, Basil in Switzerland, Heidelberg.

Under Sagittarius, of Kingdoms, Spain, Hungary; Countries, Moravia, Dalmatia, Slavonia, some parts of the Low Countries; Cities, Toledo, Narbon, Stargard, Buda in Hungary.

Under Pisces are Calabria, Portugal, Normandy; Cities, Rhems, Ratisbon, Worms. In many of these Kingdoms, Countries or Cities, according to the capacity of their present condition, the effects before mentioned in one kind or other will manifest themselves more or less, &c.

JANUARIES Observations. 1668.

THe year begins under the government of male Aspects, the judgments of men in Authority divided, nothing at all concurring in unity amongst themselves, which gives occasion of evil rumours dispersed purposely to affront the actions of this present time, and invite peoples tongues to upbraid their Superiours with unbeseeming Language; and to censure matters above their capacity.

The opposition of ♄ and ♂ in Cardinal Signs, manifest superlative Actions and Counsels, accusations, informations, impeachments against many in Authority of every quality, whether Churchmen, Gownmen, Treasurers, Accomprants, Officers in any trust, &c. ♄ in Aries signifieth the head: it may very well be doubted, many of those who shall be found guilty, will suffer execution, or which will be as considerable, imprisonment, loss of estate, or banishment; Detrimentum patietur omne quod est ejus: they are like to lose all they have.

Many of these actions will appear in France, Germany, England, and other Countries near England; Facts, Actings, Councils, matters of old standing seem called in question; a great change of supream Officers in most Kingdoms subject unto the Sign Aries; and as high Counsels as ever in the Kingdom of Poland, wherein at present strange Consultations are managed with strong hand, & by sturdy people; Some Princes of Europe ill satisfied with the Actions and Consultations of this month; their Nobility and greatest persons of Trust scandalized: yet towards the months end some better understanding betwixt them appears.

FEBRUARIES Observations. 1668.

THE blustering actions of the last month seem not tully perfected until this, for the \odot of \odot and h_2 in a fixed Sign, perfect not their effects suddenly; Saturnus elevatus supra solem in Aquario, denotes, mortem mulierum, the death of some eminent woman: and some Affirm, that the ground of many late dissensions were, or have been derived from the Female Sex: Es radix omnium istarum erit ex mulieribus;

The root of all the mischiefs lately happened in many Countries, had its beginning from women

News should arrive near this time of some losses at Sea by Shipwrack and contrary winds: high verbal conflicts amongst the great ones, more formal accusations presented against Delinquents or Offenders, or more persons called in question. Great hopes we hear that near this time, those Plantations belonging to his Majesty of Great Britain are replanting and settling, viz. those in the West-Indies, whether Barbados, Nevis, or any other Plantations in those parts, whether in Islands, or upon the Continent, and there appears great hopes of unity and concord amongst the Planters under the conduct of their prudent Governour: According to the condition of the season of the year, here seems many good returns of Merchants Ships towards the latter part of the month.

MARCHES Observations. 1668.

Whoever shall well consider the present δ of \mathcal{U} and \mathcal{Q} in \mathcal{O} a fixed Sign, might well give judgment, that there would be a firm Peace concluded in most parts of Europe, and it especially obtained by the industry and unwearied endeavours of Ecclesiastical persons imployed purposely to that end: If that of Cardanus hold true, \mathcal{U} & \mathcal{Q} in \mathcal{O} , aer erit humidus & Europa multa damna patietur: the air of the season will be moist, and Europe shall sustain many losses: we do fear the animosity of some great Prince of Europe is such, that a Peace, we mean a general Peace, will not be made for the present, but this hath no relation to the condition of England, which we hope shall no way participate of those miseries impending over many near Countries. We find, multitudinem negotiorum, cum tremore tamen atq; timore: we perceive many Negotiations design'd to compose the present differences not as yet concluded, but they seem, viz. those employed, to come to the work with fear and trembling, &c.

Sudden hopes, as sudden alterations, high disputes, violent controversies, managed with great fierceness and strong arguments, Leagues, Deeds, Evidences, Wills and Testaments, Articles, and what can be devised by the subtlety of sharpest fancies called in question, perused, interpreted; Arms, Armies, Officers, Ammunition, all kind of Warlike Furniture in preparation to serve those Countries now in War. Every Prince not as yet engaged, in one way or other applyed unto, either for assistance or neutrality: Exurgat Deus & dissipentur inimici.

APRILS Observations. 1668.

THE many secret and private consultations of this Winter quarter, seem now made manifest and apparent: though the Actions intended thereby, will not presently break out.

The military party and Episcopal at some violence in their Councils in Poland, this Month seems to be of great concernment in their Diets and Meetings; that Kingdom may justly fear a new incursion from the Tartars, and a woful desolation or captivity to befall those who border near unto them.

Portugal seems threatned by or from the Spaniard, yet without any considerable success: The death of many Clergy men may in or near this month be expected, and others of that function questioned or degraded from their Dignities. Intelligence or strange Rumours from, or concerning Ireland, several Contests about difference in judgment as unto Religion, and produce no further mischief:

after which that Nation seems to be in a thriving and peaceable condition: an invisible Eclipse of the Sun is in this month and in U and with Capus Algol, we do not fear its effects in Ireland: yet Abundantia cautela veniunt: an appearance of confederacy against the French King seems perfected by some Princes.

MAYS Observations. 1668.

THE Spanish affairs begin to amend, both in Council, Action, and assistance from Allies; the French Monarch not sully so active as formerly, indeavouring to obtain assistance of men and Ships from his Confederates; differences are like to arise betwixt France and some near Allies or Neighbours: an incursion of Enemies is feared in part of the French Territories, or some armed men may make their passage through his Confines: Erunt inter homines deceptiones & falsitates multe, & accident interfectiones multe, & pradaiones; there will be much juggling and many falsities amongst men, there will be many murders, robberies, or stealing of the Goods and Cattel both of rich and poor. We in England may have very good intelligence from parts beyond the Seas, and that some Allies of his Majesties begin more to comply with him than formerly: and y^e evil reports do flye abroad reporting contrary things: Motion of Armies at hand, Fleets at Sea preparing, all hopes of reconciling differences seem quite extinct, viz. in many Countries where War is, in which Countries, Kingdoms, or Nations, Regum & potentum in subditor imperium gravissimum portenditur: the Rulers study how to keep a strict hand over those they govern. Insuper velligabunt novas exactiones, & in cogendis pecuniis, arieg, a popularibus extorquendis studia, quo jure, quaque injuria sumunt. New means are found out to raise new Tributes, or new Revenues, or Customs, its no matter how, so that money be had from the people either by Law or injury, the English Proverb better expresseth the Authors meaning, viz. Right or wrong, so the money be had; but this Coaction of moneys is like to be in sundry Kingdoms now in distress, but hath no affinity to the English Nation: Much good news concludes this month.

JUNES Observations. 1668.

More Armies preparing, not much action as yet appears, only, Nobilium & principum vitiorum vexationes. The Nobility and Gentry of many Countries seem vexed at their present condition, fearing imprisonment, contumelies, Wars in their own Countries, and that if they abide therein, all manner of cruelty will be inflicted upon them, so that here is portended the flying or removing of many Families out of one Country into another for safeguard. Let us come nearer home, we have great hopes the industrious Citizens of London will have much encouragement in their buildings, and plentiful returns from beyond the Seas, and unity and peace amongst themselves: Some displeasing actions happen in Italy, whether it be about a Town or Fort, mischief is feared from thence.

Catalonia belonging to the Spanish Monarch is now threatened, so is Gant in the Low Countries, if it be not well fortified: Still the Polonian Affairs require great consideration, that Nations posture at present standing very infirm, and seems threatened by very powerful Allies, and some rupture once more by the salvage Tartars into the Polonian confines, the Rulers or principal Nobility thereof at variance amongst themselves, seem to put forward or give occasion to the rude Tartars motion and Robberies. The Muscovite seems offended and ready to break his League with Poland: The German Emperour may justly fear some inroad into part of his Countries, either from the Turks, Hussars, or Crabbats.

Violent motions begin to manifest themselves in many parts of the World.

JULYS Observations. 1668.

Aut Caesar aut nihil.

A man or a monse.

BUT those who desire or covet more then providence hath assigned them, may repent their folly and sit down with loss. Here arrives strange news from Italy, from the Straights, from Turkey, from Rome and parts adjacent, as if an Enemy were feared in those parts, or as if some faint hearted Princes were ready to join friendship with an Enemy. Where, & in what Countries Armies are near, there seems to approach some conflict or battel, and the destruction of many stout Souldiers; or if a City or Town be besieged heres probability of much blood ere the surrender thereof: As the weather is hot, so mens Spirits are high and animated for some sudden and high enterprize both by Land and by Sea. Many people are in great hopes of Peace, in the Countries where either War lately was, or at present is. The Pope of Rome seems very active either in person or by his Commissioners to reconcile all Christian Princes, he is intimated near this time to be bountiful in his preferments: notwithstanding, the late Lunar Eclipse might shew some distractions to the Citizens of London, or discontents about their buildings, or some such actions may happen near this time, yet a gracious King seems to give full determination unto whatever shall then fall out.

Towards the month end the Italian Princes discontinue, and many controversies arise amongst them, much envy, and many commotions against the greatest persons amongst them. The numerous Tatars we conceive, will receive from the Polonian Army a very considerable overthrow, and a great slaughter of their people: this Months actions in all places where War is, will prove formidable, he, or that Army who fights under the sign m, is like to prevail, if no treachery be found in his Officers.

A Strong probability of some commotions in Turkey, or such like rash actions perpetrated by the Janizaries & Souldiers against their supreme Officers; nor are such unruly pranks only hinted to befall the Turk, the German Emperor may expect incursions, robberies, rapines to affright and amute his Subjects, towards the North-East of his Dominions. A western Prince or People begin to look fowr upon the Pope and Italian Princes; but the most dangerous and harmful actions are menaced in Hungary, and some remote Eastern Kingdoms and Countries.

In this month there is a Δ of h and v , it promieth unto the Citizens of London much happiness and tranquillity, gteat prosperity and worldly contentment; but in regard v is now in opposition to his own place, in his last δ with h , some people of contrary judgments in Religion may repine or grumble. There may be strong hopes near this time of a full reconciliation of all or most differences in Europe; the motion of the superior Planets is slow, but they usually signifie the perfecting and accomplishment of superlative and difficult concerns: Both these Planets behold Aries with a \star aspect; we may probably declare, its a good Omen to England; if divisions amongst different judgments do any thing disturb the Nations happiness, we shall lament their condition. Mars transies the place of the late Eclipse 26 and 27 instant, God preserve the City from sudden Fires. Strange and unexpected news comes from the Southern parts, perhaps from France, as if some great Action or matter of moment had lately happened there: The Spanish affairs relating either to War or Peace in a thriving condition; Divisions, Wars, mischiefs seem to be transferred unto the more remote North-East Nations of Europe.

SEPTEMBERS. Observations. 1668.

THE Governours of Nations and Provinces find themselves involved in many difficulties ; the common people subject now, more than formerly, to take exceptions against their Superiours, against their Laws, Orders, Actions, nothing seems to please a male-contented people, and these seemingly pretend to Religion : Ecclesiasticorum & canonicorum perturbaciones multe : Both Lawyers and Ecclesiastical persons suffer much both in reputation and loss of Estates, many accusations against some, death bereaves others of their lives, and determines all controversies : Some aspects say, as things are now carried ; Bonum esse autorum bellorum, & eorum consiliatorum & portatorum armorum, causa guerrizandi ; & eorum qui querunt injusticiam, & abstissores viarum : It falls out well for those who have been Authors and Counsellours of Wars, or have born Arms, and also for those who care not or regard justice, such as Thieves, Pyrats, Robbers, or Stealers ; by which is intended, that in many Countries where peace is not yet settled, the Swordmen and Souldiers plunder & do what they please. The infirmities of this quarter, Tussis, dolores oculorum, & erunt lumbrici pernecantes pueros, & ledentes etiam alios ; people will be tormented with Coughs, sore eyes, great pains all over their joints, high Feavers even unto phrenies, Worms in young Children, destroying not only Infants but people more aged : this seems a contentious month, in some Actions not pleasing to the Spaniards : many comfortable aspects towards the end of this month, gives great content to all sorts of people, by news of the return of many rich Ships.

OCTOBER'S Observations. 1668.

TEmpestuous winds or blustering Storms begin this Month, occasioning great fears and suspitions amongst the Merchants, especially towards the Coasts of Ireland or Westward. Great conventions of people, Princes, and others related to the House of Austria: the grand actions of this month seem agitated concerning the affairs of that noble Family and their territories. In those parts they fear, Depredationes, tribulationes, mortem in hominibus juvenibus; Depredations, tribulations, death of their young men, viz. the carrying into Captivity of many of their Subjects (youth especially) into either Tartary or Dominions of the Turk.

Unwelcome news seems to come from the North or Northwest of damage or harm by contrary winds unto divers Ships; the Seas seem dangerous, and Merchants fearful of adventuring for the present; soon after better intelligence comes of not many losses or so great as reported: strange animosities begin to appear amongst near Relations, people whisper and murmur various things, abundance of rancour, malice, and dangerous informations are thought on; better news seems to arrive now every week to the great satisfaction of the industrious Merchants: and judicious grave men, do peaceably conclude such matters as might have been troublesome in many Countries: France exceedingly active in consultations, wherein difficult transactions are managed with great vivacity of spirit and resolution, the Monarch of that Nation sores high: God will bless the Peace of England, and make his Majesty happy in the affections of his own Subjects.

NOVEMBERS Observations. 1668.

Here is in this month a second trine of h and v : and Δ of q and v , and of q and h : q in v : notwithstanding the p of v and q the 2. of this instant: yet here appears now very strong probability of a full reconciliation and right understanding of all former controversies and debates in all or most Nations in Europe: and although the late p of v and q might produce Rumors or intelligence to the contrary, or might give some demurrers or procrastinate the full conclusion, yet in the end these many amicable aspects manifest the many Commissioners or Agents imployed from several Kings and Princes have at last determined and healed (by Gods mercy) the bleeding condition of several Kingdoms or Provinces in these our Western parts of the World: Here seems very high honours conferred on many grave persons for their merits in that occasion. The Law finds many friends in England, many grave persons thereof advanced unto Judicature. The Clergy much concerned in preferments of able and modest Divines; The p of v and \odot near the place of the late Lunar Eclipse, deprives some grave Judges or Magistrates, and a crazy Bishop or Bishops of their lives; much change or mutation of Offices and places of preferment near this month.

In some Countries the Coasts are not so clear, for there will happen strange controversies betwixt the Nobility; and as unwonted diseases amongst the vulgar people, obscure air, turbulent winds, heavy Law-suits, undoing of one another by tedious Law-suits: private factions at Court, a great mortality of the Nobility in many Nations.

— DECEMBERS Observations. 1668.

THE late δ of η and δ shews hard weather according to the season, and it of long continuance, together with that he denoteth; paucitatem acquisitionis hereditatum, & paucitatem substantiarum rusticorum, viz. few persons dye so rich as to leave great inheritances, the poor Farmer or Country man gets no store of substance. Several good intelligences come from Spain; & in probability rich and considerable returns: Weeping or missing snowy weather for many daies, the season very turbulent and unsettled; Actions in the Courts of Princes carried on with much secrecie, but sturdy resolutions—the event or effects thereof may hardly be discovered until February next: the contrivers will repent when too late, η and δ are joined together and they are evil Councillors, coverousness rules the one, self-wilfulness and audacity or impudence the other, but these things South-West from us— It may be fear'd the overflowing of Waters near this month doth much prejudice as well to man as beast, yea unto whole Towns and Families: yea if our Northern parts were capable of Earthquakes, we might then expect one in England, but that malevolency may be converted into harmful winds, snows frosts, &c. The Courts of Princes pestered with complaints, the disgrace of many in authority succeeds, new Officers, new Offices—

Fluminum inundationes in multis locis. But sith the Lunar Eclipse in May shall now begin suddenly to operate; we conclude our discourse.
